"STILL THEY PREFER WALKING"

The President Will not Interfere—Liberia A Good Country.

The Springfield Republican remarks that their is something admirable in the persistence with which the Negro population of Richmond, Va., continues to walk rather than patronize a street railroad that has lately banished all colored passengers to "Jim Crow" cars.

The company started out with the assumption that the colored people would submit after a while rather than abandon the use of the cars, but perhaps a new conception of the strength of the feeling among colored people is breaking into the corporate mind. The revenues have fallen off seriously, and "there's the rub."

The company must make concessions in order to win back this patronage. There are nearly ten million Negroes in the United States. It all should refuse to ride in "Jim Crow" cars the loss of revenue would soon compel greedy stock holders to do away with "Jim Crow" cars.

There is no more reason why there could be separate cars for Negroes than for Italians, Poles, Hungarians, Frenchmen, Russians, Germans, Englishmen or any other race of people.

Time will show the prejudice which finds its expression in the "Jim Crow" car to be one of the greatest mistakes the southern people could have made.

There are grave political economic special and religious problems to be solved by the American people and in their solution the Negro will be an important factor. The white north south will then recognize him as a brother, and will be glad to have his help.

Men like Tillman, Vardaman and Ayres, who denounce President Roosevelt for entertaining Booker T. Washington at the White House, forget the greatest man of his party, Thomas Jefferson, also entertained a Negro at the white house in the person of Benjamin Banneker, the noted Negro mathematician astronomer and linguist. Jefferson not only entertained Banneker at the White House, but also invited him to his home at Monticello.

In the light of Thomas Jefferson's action, how passing strange the utterances of such men as Tillman, Vardaman and Graves sound.

Upon reflection, however we are glad to admit that there are in the south some far-sighted statesmen who realize that the enforced degradation of the Negroes as a race will eventually react upon the whites "for as a man sows, so shall he reap."

That which is true of an individual is likewise true of a nation. That United States District Judge Emory Speer of Macon, Ga., is one of them is shown by him in his decision of a few days since in a habeas corpus case affecting a Negro. The prisoner Henry Jamison had been sentenced to seven months at hard labor in the chain gang for the violation of some municipal ordinance and the Recorder of Macon, in so acting had proceeded arbitrarily without any sort of criminal pleading, and as usual without the intervention of a jury.

In ordering the instant release of the prisoner, Judge Speer dealt with the effect that while a sentence to the chain gang would forever ruin a white man previously respect able it had no such effect upon a respectable Negro. Such considerations the judge declared could have no weight in his court. He concluded with the strong and solemn statement:

"Though the color line exact may not declare—this was no color line case it is a Negro today. It will be a white man tomorrow. In this court the law is equal for all."

The victim of race prejudice will not only be a white man tomorrow but the white man today is often forced to ride in cars on southern railways that are for all practical purposes, "Jim Crow" cars and in some sections white men as well as black men have been forced into peonage.

The poor white men, of all men in the south, should oppose with all his power, the degradation of the negro. As a matter of fact, the poor man of the south has but very little, if any power and the Negro has his very worst enemy in the poor whites of the south.

The overseers and most cruel slave drivers were composed of poor whites the Ku Klux Klan and the midnight riders were composed of the poor whites. Mob law and lynch law is executed by the poor whites of the south, and the Negro can expect nothing but cruelty from the ignorant and poor whites of the south, until education and other uplifting influences reform him.

When a man's heart is filled with cruelty and murder he is not very particular as to who are the victims; and at the poor white man, of all men in WASHINGTON, August 8.—President Roosevelt has declined to interfere in the case of John W. Burley, a negro confined in the jail of the District of Columbia under sentence of death for the crime of criminal assault the victim having been a little girl four and one half years old. The President has directed that the sentence of the jury be carried into effect on August 26, as decreed. An application was made to the President to commute the sentence of Burley to imprisonment for life, it being alleged that the prisoner was of mind so weak as to be irresponsible for his crime.

The subject was referred to Attorney General Moody. He investigated the case and reported to the President today fully as to the facts. In refusing the application for commutation, President Roosevelt made the following memorandum:

"White House, Washington, Aug. 8, 1904.—The application for the commutation of sentence of John W. Burley is denied. This man committed the most heinous crime known to our laws and twice before he has committed crime of a similar, though less horrible character. In my judgment there is no justification whatever for paying heed to the allegations that he is not of sound mind and allegators made after the trial and conviction."

"Nobody would pretend that there has ever been any such degree of mental unsoundness shown as would make people even consider sending him to the asylum if he had not committed this crime. Under such circumstances he should certainly be esteemed sane enough to suffer the penalty for his monstrous deed. I have scant sympathy with the plea of insanity advanced to save a man from the consequences of crime had been committed it would have been impossible to persuade any responsible authority to commit him to an asylum as insane."

"Among the most dangerous criminals, and especially among those prone to commit this particular kind of offense, there are plenty of a temper so fendsish or so brutal as to be incompatible with any other than a brutish order of intelligence; but these men are, nevertheless, responsible for their acts; and nothing more tends to encourage crime among such men than the belief that through the plea of insanity or any other method it is possible for them to escape paying the just penalty of their crimes."

"The crime in question is one to the existence of that spirit of lawlessness which takes form in lynching. It is a crime so revolting that the criminal is not entitled to one particle of sympathy from any human being. It is essential that the punishment for it should be not only ascertained but as swift as possible. The jury in this case did their duty by recommending the infliction of the death penalty."

"It is to be regretted that we do not have special provision for more summary dealing with this type of cases. The more we do what in us lies to secure certain and swift justice in dealing with these cases the more effective will we work against the growth of that lynching spirit which is so full of evil omens for this people, because it seeks to avenge one infamous crime by the commission of another of equal infamy."

"The application is denied and the sentence will be carried into effect."

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

Few Baltimoreans ever hear of Liberia, the negro republic on the African west coast, and few know that a Baltimore colored man, the Rev. Ernest Lyon, is United States minister at its capital, Monrovia. But despite its obscurity, Liberia is nevertheless a wide-awake republic, and the other day it inaugurated a new president. His name is Thomas Barclay and he is a native of Barbados, in the West Indies.

In 1854 he was taken to Liberia as a boy, and since his early manhood he has been a politician there. As secretary of state he accomplished the novel feat of keeping a balance in real cash in the republic's treasury, and for this his grateful fellow citizens made him president.

Liberia was originally intended to be a refuge for dissatisfied colored brothers from the United States, but at present there are only 25,000 English-speaking negroes there.

The rest of the population of 1,500,000 is made up of African savages. But the descendants of the original settlers from the United States are still supreme, and the republic, as small republics go, is well ordered. Revolutions are unknown and trade is booming.

AS A CALL TO DUTY

Senator Fairbanks Accepts His Unanimous Nomination.

WISDOM OF REPUBLICAN POLICIES

Has Been Confirmed by Events Within the Knowledge of Every American Voter—Election of President Roosevelt Necessary to the Furtherance of the Best Interests of the Republic.

In his speech formally accepting his nomination as vice president, delivered on the occasion of the notification exercises at Indianapolis on August 3rd, Senator Fairbanks briefly sketched the issues of the present campaign. He said:

"Mr. Root and Gentlemen of the Committee—I thank you for the very generous terms in which you have conveyed the official notification of my nomination for vice president of the United States. The unsolicited and unanimous nomination by the Republican party is a call to duty that I am pleased to obey."

"I accept the commission which you bring with a profound sense of the dignity and responsibilities of the exalted position for which I have been nominated. My utmost endeavor will be to discharge in full measure the trust if the action of the convention shall meet the approval of the American people."

"The platform adopted by the convention is an explicit and emphatic declaration of principles in entire harmony with those policies of our party which have brought great honor and prosperity to our country, and which, if continued, will bring us like blessings in the future."

"The monetary and economic policies which have been so forcibly denounced lie at the very foundation of our industrial life, and are essential to the fullest development of our national strength. They give vitality to our manufactures and commerce and if impaired or overthrown there would inevitably ensue a period of industrial depression, to the serious injury of the vast interests of both labor and capital."

"The Republican party since it preserved the integrity of the republic and gave freedom to the oppressed, never rendered a more important service to the country than when it established the gold standard. Under it we have increased our currency supply sufficiently to meet the normal requirements of business."

"It is gratifying that the convention made frank and explicit declaration of the inflexible purpose of the party to maintain the gold standard. It is essential not only that the standard should be as good as the best in the world, but that the people should have the assurance that it will be so maintained."

"The enemies of sound money were powerful enough to suppress the mention of the gold standard lately adopted by the Democratic national convention. The leader of Democracy in two national campaigns has declared since the adjournment of the convention that as soon as the election is over he will undertake to organize the forces within the Democratic party for the next national contest, for the purpose of advancing the radical policies for which his element of the party stands."

The Home of Madam McNairde Moore,

1527 English Avenue.

Callers take English Ave., car coming south. You are welcome at all times. One of the greatest Women of 20 century, which millions will testify, read a few of her many testimonials from all over the world, and your city, and State, office crowded daily with all colors, creeds and sexes.

I called on this lady in regard to a lawsuit, paid her price, although, with no thought at first, of gaining such truthful statement. After her talk with me, I accepted all she said: And won my lawsuit, when everything was against me. She has no equal in her profession, Mrs. E. P. R., Muncie Ind.

Madame Moore don't fail to have this printed: I only wish I could send my full name; my home, before calling on you, was a wreck. Today, I am proud to say, is an earthly paradise. My husband hates the name of the woman that tried so hard to separate us. V. H. Allen, Cincinnati, O.

Dear Madam: A man do not believe before they see. But now I do. I secured my old job, with a raise in my wages since consulting you. I made 60 days work there. Here is a present, a diamond ring. J. H. Pratt, Delaware City, Delaware.

Dearest Madam: I feel that I owe almost my life to you. We married at last although he told me frankly, I was a wreck, he would marry no one on earth. After keeping company with me over 2 years and was engaged 10 months! After writing to you and taken your advice. He is mine by the law of this country. Mrs. E. C. D., Dallas, Texas.

My Dearest Friend: Madam Moore, May God bless you. I pray I shall praise you with all my heart, soul and strength. There is a mystery that surrounds you more than ordinary women. You are more to suffering than tongue can tell and it takes God to bless and bestow on you this wonderful power. My home is a love spot once more since writing to you, and seeing your advice. My husband and wayward son are now very devoted and lovely to me. Mrs. G. Small, Sandford, Fla.

You can write or call. She is pleased to meet you at all times and will make you feel at home. No ill wishes filed. All must be done in love and harmony. God will bless the peacemakers. If you cannot call, write for information. Enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope and you will not regret it. No fogism, negroism, Hottentotism. Strictly a character reader. One who reads Human Nature from a Phrenologist, Palmist and Clairvoyant standpoint. Ask your friend of her, She is endorsed by the press and public, all over the world. She reads your life's troubles as an open book and her predictions are true. Permanently located in her own home. When visiting the city, call. Your meals, a lovely room and everything to make you feel at home. Judge the tree by the fruit it bears.

Maxwell were speakers of the evening. A crowd of girls and boys enjoyed a delightful hay ride Saturday night Mr. Charles Allen is on the sick list. Mrs. Jackson Carr and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Ella Carr leave to-morrow for their home, in Minneapolis, Minn. The Gas Light club will a gay social Wednesday night at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Summers. A number of people will picnic in Knox county, Thursday.
